Village of Lake in the Hills Calls on Community for Input in Parks and Development Plans

Lake in the Hills - The Village of Lake in the Hills is excited to announce its ambitious endeavor to update its Comprehensive Plan and create a new Parks Master Plan, aiming to enhance the community's recreational spaces and set a visionary path for sustainable development.

Comprehensive Plan Update: Building a Vision for the Future

Simultaneously, the Village is actively working on updating its Comprehensive Plan—a document that outlines the community's vision for development, land use preferences, and economic development goals. This comprehensive process will engage the community and local businesses, addressing local issues within the context of national and regional market realities.

The update involves a thorough assessment of land use-related conditions, infrastructure, and economic factors, with an estimated timeline of one year. The Village encourages all residents and stakeholders to visit planninglith.org to provide feedback and stay informed about the progress.

For inquiries related to the Comprehensive Plan update, please contact Director of Community Development, John Svalenka, at jsvalenka@lith.org.

Parks Master Plan Workshop and Survey: A Call for Community Input

In collaboration with Hitchcock Design Group, the Village will be hosting a Parks Master Plan Workshop at the Village Hall on February 7 at 6:30 p.m. All community members are invited to attend this interactive session, expected to last approximately one hour. The workshop aims to gather valuable feedback on park development and recreation services, focusing on priorities for the next five years and beyond.

To ensure widespread participation, a survey will be distributed through various channels, including social media, the Village website, and key community stakeholder groups. The survey can be found here and will be open from January 29 through February 23. The insights gained from these engagements will play a crucial role in shaping the future of parks and recreation services.

For inquiries related to the Parks Master Plan, residents are encouraged to contact Director of Parks & Recreation, Randy Splitt, at rsplitt@lith.org.

The Village of Lake in the Hills is committed to fostering a collaborative and inclusive planning process, ensuring that the community's voice shapes our future development.
